OTTO MICHAELIS KILLED BY AUTO

Former Army Officer at El Paso Meets Death In Georgia.

News comes to El Paso of the death by automobile accident in Brunswick, Ga., on March 21, of Otto Michaelis, assistant works manager of the P. T. Lay Co. on the Hawthorn-Judson picnic acid plant. Mr. Michaelis was stationed in El Paso during 1912 and 1913, on duty with the 16th Infantry, having been at that time a lieutenant in the United States army.

He entered the Hawthorn-Judson plant as a foreman's clerk and, with rapid promotion, was made assistant manager. He was anxious to reenter the army and was examined for entrance every week, an ostensible visitation by pneumonia preventing his entrance. A short time before his death, the time being too late to enter the service for the war.

Funeral services were held in the Episcopal church in Brunswick, Ga. All government work was officially closed in his honor at 12 o'clock. His body was then taken by his brother, George Woodbridge, to Brookline, Mass., where services were held in All Saints church by the Rev. D. D. Addison on April 3, followed by cremation at Mount Auburn cemetery, Cambridge, Massachusetts.

He was the fourth son of the late Maj. Otto H. Michaelis, ordnance department, United States army. His mother lives at 15 Lamark road, Brookline, Mass.

Leaves a Family.
Decceased had a wife and three children, who lived in San Francisco, Calif., at the time of his death. He was stationed here in the 16th Infantry. She is said to be living in Cincinnati, O., now.

He was a Russian and an Elk and had scores of friends in El Paso and elsewhere. He was a brilliant, capable young man, full of energy and optimism, and during the period of his service in the army had a splendid record for efficiency. His services with the army were terminated at El Paso as a result of financial difficulties.

Michaelis served in Cuba, the Philippines and in the Boxer troubles in China. In the latter service, he was a sergeant in the 2nd Cavalry, and was killed in action at the Battle of Manila. He was the son of a prominent family and was a member of the El Paso Club.

New York, April 22.—The board of directors of the Associated Press today elected the following officers: President, Frank R. Noyes, Washington, D. C. (re-elected). First vice president, A. N. McKay, Salt Lake City. Second vice president, J. L. Stewart, Kansas City. Secretary, W. L. McLean, New York. Treasurer, W. L. McLean, New York. Development of international communication promises a chance that the issue of national may be resolved. The effect of "unarming" world peace, Melville E. Stone, general manager of the Associated Press, recently returned from the peace conference, told the members at their annual meeting and luncheon banquet.

In speaking with the pan-American spirit of the meeting, inspired by the recent addition of 25 South American newspapers to the Associated Press membership, Mr. Stone stated that this extension of the service gave assurance of the unity of the world's news.

These sentiments were shared by the South American representatives who paid tribute to the Associated Press and the success achieved in the South American news service inaugurated on January 1.

Augustine Edwards, Chilean minister in England, also a publisher, delivered an address. He said:

Press Has Power Now.
The press constitutes really only today the channel of communication.

Rotarians To Furnish Cars For The Nurses

Dean Worrell To Address Rotarians on Oil Geology On Thursday.

For the convention of Graduate Nurses of Texas to meet here early in May, El Paso Rotary has been asked to furnish automobiles to take the visitors for a ride about the city one day of the convention. The club will add upon the matter at the regular meeting Thursday at noon at Hotel Sheldon. That it will be accepted is a foregone conclusion. W. R. Welch says it is going to be necessary to draw straws to decide which Rotarians may have the honor of furnishing the cars.

Dean R. H. Worrell, of the Texas School of Mines, will address the Rotarians Thursday on oil geology and Dean C. D. Miller, a former member of the club, who has recently returned from overseas, will make a talk.

The weekly Round-up, the official publication of the club, appeared this week full of "hope" about the forthcoming Rotary minaret. Sam Nelson was named editor of the Round-up last week.

SEVERAL MINES WILL NOT REOPEN, ALTHOUGH STRIKE THERE IS NOW SETTLED

Leadville, Colo., April 22.—Although the settlement of the miners' strike, under an agreement reached last night between the workers and the operators, allows the men to return to work at a wage scale of $4 a day, there still will be many unemployed in Leadville, as several mines will not reopen. Workings Under Water.
The Mikado shaft of the Iron-Harrier Mining company will not reopen for an indefinite period, as all the workings are under water, the pumps having been removed when the miners announced they would strike. But the Leadville and Greenback property managers have agreed to pay the existing wage scale when the pumps are running in a few days, probably with reduced working hours.

The Yeh, Penrose, Garbutt and Pen shafts will be running in a few days, probably with reduced working hours.

"MY HUSBAND DIED FOR MEXICO," SAYS MRS. FRANCISCO ALVAREZ

NEW ORLEANS, La., April 22.—Senora Rosenda Condit de Alvarez, widow of Gen. Francisco Alvarez, who was executed Monday night at Vera Cruz by a firing squad, was told of her husband's death by newspaper men shortly after midnight. Senora Alvarez was prostrated. Her nine year old daughter Louise is a student at St. Joseph's academy here.

Senora Alvarez said she had heard of her husband's arrest by Carranza forces, but did not expect he would receive the death penalty. She said her husband left her here in August and went to New York, where he joined Gen. Huerta. From there the two went to Veracruz, she said.

"We came to New Orleans four years ago," the senora declared, "when my husband was forced out of Mexico City by the rise of Carranza to power."

As for the sake of my little daughter, my husband did not believe that peace would ever come to Mexico under the Carranza regime. He wanted only honest government in the interest of all the people. He has always been anti-Carranza and two years ago offered himself with the Diaz revolutionary movement.

He came to New York with the Mexican committee and was entrusted with the important mission of buying ammunition, but the embargo on shipping rendered his efforts of no avail. When he kissed me good-bye at our home in New Orleans last August, almost his last words to me were: "We shall win for Mexico."

Alvarez expected to win. "My last letter from him was written March 22—in it he said: "We are just getting out for service. We shall win and the day is not far distant when we shall all be united and happy in Mexico."

"I am convinced my husband's execution was illegal. I shall appeal for redress."
